Serious Situation for "Covey."

The situation of the forger in the Lexington jail, passing under the name of D. T. Covey of West Virginia, has become very serious, and from the present outlook there seems no possible chance of disproving the grave charges against him. The real D. T. Covey of Lester, W. Va., under whose name the prisoner passed himself and whose name he forged to checks, arrived in Lexington Friday, accompanied by J. H. Jordan of Hinton, who was here last week, and I. C. Prince of Beckley, W. Va.

Last Thursday morning Mr. J. V. Grinstead, counsel for the prisoner, sued out a writ of habeas corpus before Judge Houston of the county court, for the release of his client. On account of the absence of Commonwealth's Attorney Catlett, Mr. E. M. Pendleton represented the commonwealth and the hearing was postponed until the following Monday. But after the arrival Friday of the gentlemen from West Virginia a preliminary hearing was set for 4 o'clock in the afternoon to take expert testimony in the case. The prisoner's counsel stated that he was not ready for the trial, as there were several witnesses of importance whom he desired to have present and who could not be secured as yet. The case was postponed for trial to November 5th.

Before the prisoner was returned to jail he was approached by the real Covey, who recognized him as the stranger who spent several days at his home in West Virginia, and who passed under the name of E. J. Faulkner. When Covey stood in front of him in greeting, the prisoner for the first time showed signs of collapse. Although disclaiming any knowledge of the man before him yet his countenance belied his words.

It will be of interest to relate the prisoner's movements for some weeks past. A few weeks ago he appeared in the neighborhood of Lester, near Beckley, W. Va., and represented himself as on the outlook for investment. He said that he had money and desired to purchase land or set up a store. He passed himself off as a preacher of the Campbellite (Christian) faith, and preached several times in the community. While in Covey's home he was shown two notes of $1,103.33 each, which it is alleged, he stole and which, as mentioned in last week's GAZETTE, he discounted at the Bank of Summers at Hinton. The first intimation that Mr. Covey had of his loss was the notice sent him by Cashier J. H. Jordan after being notified by Cashier Vaughan of the First National Bank of Lexington. The prisoner also drew $100 on a check issued to E. J. Faulkner and drawn on the First National Bank of Bluefield, which was paid by the Bank of Raleigh at Beckley, W. Va., and represented here by the vice-president of that bank, Mr. I. C. Prince.

Football.

Richmond College football team came to Lexington Friday, played the Virginia Military Institute eleven Saturday and Washington and Lee Monday, being defeated in both games.

The game Saturday resulted in a score of 33 to 0 in favor of the cadets. The visitors put up good ball, but they were outplayed at every point by the cadets, who hammered the collegians' line for gains. Richmond seldom had the ball and then resorted to kicks.

Monday the game was played in a downpour of rain and Washington and Lee piled up a score of 29 to 0. Again the visitors failed to gain by bucking line and resorted to kicking when they got the ball, which was seldom. The features were Smith's 40-yard run for touchdown and several difficult goals kicked by Campbell.

Synod of Virginia in Session at Norfolk.

The Synod of Virginia, embracing Presbyteries in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and District of Columbia, last week held its 115th annual session in the First Presbyterian church of Norfolk, beginning Tuesday night and closing Saturday afternoon.

The opening sermon was preached by Rev. W. H. Woods, D. D., of Baltimore, the retiring moderator. Rev. Dr. F. J. Brooks of Alexandria, was elected moderator.

The most important question considered was the division of Synod. The committee's report recommended the division into two Synods, Virginia and West Virginia, with the Blue Ridge as the dividing line, the first to comprise the Presbyteries of Norfolk, East Hanover, West Hanover, Roanoke, Chesapeake and Maryland; the second, Presbyteries of Winchester, Lexington, Montgomery, Abingdon, Kanawha and Greenbrier. A substitute was offered to divide Synod into three Synods with Washington, Richmond and Staunton as the centers. The question came up for discussion several days but no decision arrived at, and the matter goes over until next year's meeting.

Another matter of interest was the selection of the location for the Presbyterian orphanage. A number of cities and towns offered special inducements for the establishment of the orphanage in their midst. Mr. A. T. Barclay represents Lexington and offered Hotel de Hart at $12,000, with special inducements from the town and a gift of $1,000 from the ladies of the Presbyterian church. Lynchburg was selected on condition that one-half of the cost of the site be paid by that city.

The committee on centenary fund reported that of the $325,000 to be raised, $147,000 had been secured. Four years remain to secure the balance.

In an address by Rev. Dr. W. S. Campbell, representing the Virginia Bible Society, the surprising statement was made that there are 50,000 families in Virginia that haven't any part of the Scriptures in their homes.

Synod will hold the next session at Abingdon, Va., beginning the Tuesday following the third Sunday in October, 1903.

Religious Notes.

At a recent meeting in Richmond of the executive committee of the Virginia Christian Endeavor Union, Rev. J. H. Light and Dr. Jas. Lewis Howe of Lexington, were elected directors of the State union.

The protracted meeting at the Lexington Baptist church, closed Thursday night and Rev. W. P. Hines of Portsmouth, left for his home Friday. As a result of the meeting a number of conversions are reported. Seven persons joined the Baptist church Sunday on profession and three by letter.

Introductory services will be held at Trinity Methodist church tonight, Thursday and Friday nights of this week preparatory to revival services to be conducted next week, beginning with Sunday night. There will be preaching each night, the services beginning at 8 o'clock. The pastor expects to have the assistance of visiting ministers.

Special services were held Sunday morning at Trinity Methodist church for the benefit of aged members of the congregation. Neatly printed invitations were sent to a number of old persons whose attendance was desired. The church was tastefully decorated with flowers, potted plants and evergreen leaves and presented a pleasing appearance. The pastor, Rev. J. H. Light, preached a special sermon for the occasion, his subject being, "A Hero at Eighty-five."

Rev. T. A. Hall, for several years the popular pastor of the Lexington Baptist church, tendered his resignation to the congregation Sunday morning and at a meeting Sunday night the same was accepted. Mr. Hall has accepted a call to become pastor of a church in Fayetteville, N. C., and will assume his new duties the first Sunday in December. He will serve the Lexington church through the month of November. During his pastorate in Lexington, Mr. Hall has formed many friendships not confined to his own denomination, and his removal from the community will be generally regretted.

Meeting of Stonewall Brigade.

Yesterday the survivors of the Stonewall Brigade had a reunion in Staunton. Their deliberations were presided over by Colonel J. H. Williams, of the Fifth Infantry, a resident of Augusta county and the president of the association elected at its last annual reunion.

The meeting was simply attended, owing to the fact that notice had not been given, and coming so closely on the heels of the meeting of the Grand Camp.

The representatives from Rockbridge in attendance were David E. Moore and J. Scott Moore of Lexington, and D. H. Rosen of Raphine. Major S. W. Paxton was present by invitation.

Col. Williams declined re-election to the presidency of the brigade association, and on motion of Capt. Thomas D. Ranson of Staunton, Sergeant David E. Moore of Lexington was unanimously elected for the year, and Capt. J. L. Avis of Harrisonburg as vice-president.

The time of meeting in the future was fixed on the fourth Thursday in October, and all meetings shall be held in Staunton.

The chair is to appoint two men from each regiment and the same number from the two batteries, to complete a record of all the survivors of the brigade.

The new president was empowered to create an executive and arrangement committee for the next meeting to arouse and engender interest among the survivors that will insure a large attendance at the next meeting.

The Summer Season

is full of dangers particularly for the children, who not knowing the result of eating unripe fruit, indulge themselves, with the usual gripping pains in the stomach as a consequence; mothers should have on hand at all times a bottle of Painkiller (Perry Davis) which will at once relieve the sufferer; it is a safe, simple remedy and it should be kept in every house. Large bottles 25c and 50c.
